

ABILITY - THE FIRST MILESTONE

by L. Ron Hubbard

Scientology would be the study of science or the study of knowledge. Scientology actually embraces the Axioms, and embraces the various activities of Man.

You may not realize it completely, but Man's activities have not been embraced.

Scientology would step outside of the field of science as it has been known. Science as it has been known has been the collection of data, assembling it into piles of similar data and calling these piles of data "-ology". The study of biology started out to be a study of life — bio or bi — ology: study of life. But it wound up as the study of cells and small animals and that sort of thing, and merely collected enormous quantities of data, observed, not particularly evaluated, and certainly not grouped and aligned into a form which could be utilized in the discovery of new data.

Each one of these ologies one by one has come to a dead end. That is not a condemnation of them. They have been carried forward as far as anyone could carry them forward and then they've stopped, stagnated, specialized, and drawn themselves away from the body of knowledge, so that each one becomes a study of how you memorize a lot of unevaluated facts and you put them together and maybe you get something and maybe you don't.

This has been going on to my knowledge for 3,500 years and has actually been going on a lot longer than that. Mysticism itself was once considered to be just about as pat and just about as well codified as biology is today. Each new adventure that Man undertakes goes out further into making the unknown known to Man.

Dianetics went a certain distance. It was mainly interested in aberration, in why men's minds don't behave exactly right all the time. It covers that field pretty well. But it doesn't embrace everything that could be embraced about Man.

KNOWLEDGE

I had been going forward further and further and further and further, and all of a sudden we were up against a subject which could only be embraced by a word like Scientology, which is an embracing of knowledge.

That makes it a broad field. It has a great number of logics, axioms, postulates which concern themselves with knowledge. Emphasis is placed, of course, upon the knowledge which Man can utilize here in this MEST universe, this material universe — the knowledge he utilizes to go forward. It's a study of knowledge — not a study of therapy.

This may strike you as somewhat odd, but a therapy is no end. The end goal of Scientology is not a therapy. It is merely a basic step in the field of Scientology, to perfect the computer. That computer happens to be the human mind. How can you work problems with an imperfect computer? You can't. How can you apply knowledge with an imperfect computer? Again, you can't.

CLEARING

A great deal of this computer is alert and headed towards perfection but there are certain things which keep it from being perfect and certain things which inhibit it from recognizing what it actually recognizes. Wonderful thing, but a mind can know without letting itself know. So before you can use Scientology to its fullest extent, the computer has to be cleared. That is just a technical computing term — you have to clear a machine before the machine will give you right answers. And right now we're in need of an awful lot of right answers.

It's fantastic that we sit here today with a technology capable of conquering a very large section of the material universe and actually talk about blowing up our fellow men. How insane can you get?

Compared to the rationality which a human being can assume, which he can himself accomplish, there isn't a ruler in the world today or a manager of any corporation in the world today who could be considered anything but a raving lunatic. But compared to the normal, these people are usually much saner than the average.

SANITY

So what is your relative yardstick here? What is sanity? Sanity could be set up right now, if you were to consider it an absolute, to be absolute perfection in reasoning which would resolve problems to the optimum good of all those concerned. That would be an absolute of sanity. Absolutes are not attainable. In the first place, a person who is absolutely capable of being sane would probably still lack data, and so you would have that small margin there of the unattainable.

But it would be so much higher than anything which has been achieved to date that you practically can't recognize people when they have gone up this line.

Somebody wrote in from California — a young girl worked with Handbook for Preclears for a short time, went down to a typing college, examined the chart for a few minutes and examined the keyboard of the typewriter (she had never typed before) and sat down and started to type perfectly at 25 words a minute. Well, that is not very peculiar. That's

LOS ANGELES Welcomes Dianetics

L. Ron Hubbard's Dianetics, Modern Science of Mental Health has been put in the reach of broad public demand in January, 1976, in Los Angeles. It has been met with growing enthusiasm!

The paperback edition has been placed by major distributors into all paperback outlets from drug store chains and supermarkets to bookstores and the 5 and 10. The books have been selling so well the major problem has been keeping them in stock on the shelves!

So far ten radio talk shows have been done on Dianetics, several of them call-in shows, and a talk show has also been on television. Radio commercials have also been running on four major stations.

The one and a half million people at this year's Rose Parade in Pasadena New Year's Day saw "Read . . . Dianetics" in huge letters in the sky, and 90,000 more saw it over the Rams football game at the L. A. Coliseum January 4. Skywriting over neighboring communities followed on the next few weekends.

In February, four on-campus lectures about Dianetics were held at the major universities (UCLA, USC, Los Angeles Valley College, California State L. A.) in the area.

People in Los Angeles are even starting to wear T-shirts that say "Dianetics"!

"Look!" A parade watcher, one of the 1½ million at the famous Rose Parade in Pasadena, looks up in the sky New Year's Day!

ABILITY - THE FIRST MILESTONE

the way you ought to be able to learn, not grindingly. There's the information, you just examine the information and apply it without any physical reservations.

In other words, it shouldn't take the government a hundred and some thousand dollars to train a pilot. They ought to be able to go out and show the fellow and say, "Now look, here's the throttles and you have to have the flaps in this condition, and your oil temperature and pressure have to be up here. You neutralize these controls and the plane will actually take off itself. You cut it down to landing speed so-and-so and head it in and at this distance from the airport you level off." And the pilot says, "Hmm-mm. Let me look at it a moment," figures it out, climbs in the plane and takes off and brings her around and lands it safely again.

Do they do that now? No, they don't. They study for months and months and months and then take them out and crack them up. Just look at the Air Force's crash record — why is it? If it's mechanical failure on the part of those planes, it's because somebody didn't inspect the part he was told to inspect, and the fellow who put the plane together didn't care whether it went together or not. That's mechanical failure. But every single one of these mechanical failures comes down to a human failure.

Therefore Scientology in its widest application could only be applied by the very very sane. So its first application is the creation of sanity amongst the able.

But people don't realize how unable they are because they have no standards to go by. If you were to get up and do any of the things which an able mind could do, in front of an audience, people would be signing you up for vaudeville and television. Why? Well, you could add and subtract various numbers, and somebody could read you the instructions on how to tap dance and then you'd tap dance, that sort of thing. You'd be phenomenal. Everybody would say, "genius at work". No, not genius—sanity at work.

How do you get sane? Well, that's the first milestone. But that's only mile one and there's 10,000 of those milestones out there. Until you get milestone one, which is complete ability, it isn't very likely that you will be able to compel or reason or handle a world into a sane approach to the business of living.

TRAINING FOR CLEARING

The first milestone does not include clearing up prisons, clearing up insane asylums or resolving the problems of cities like Los Angeles. Those are up there at three, four, five. But by solid cohesion in your goals, with a solid forward push on the rehabilitation of yourself and the very able who surround you, those goals will be accomplished.

Right now what we've got to do is carry forward far enough as individuals beyond the first milestone so that some of the actual native goals of Man can be realized in this universe.

And we can do it, because every doubt which you have right this moment is just an aberration. Anything which is fighting you at this moment is within you. There is nothing — fire, swords, police, national governments, economic systems — none of these things could stop Man once he started. And what we're trying to do is start Man. Nobody has ever started him before. All they're interested in doing has been controlling him and holding him down.

That's Scientology: knowledge and its application in the conquest of the material universe. Scientology needs a crew, and with persistence and opening your ears, you'll be that crew.

What you can do as a trained Auditor

TEACHER COUNSELS PARENTS, CHILDREN

College lecturer in education PHYLLIS HARRIS became more effective with parents, children and teachers with her Scientology auditor training.

She found out about Scientology in May, 1974, in New York, and began her training that spring while she continued lecturing and was still in charge of a local school instructional staff. She rushed to Los Angeles for full time Scientology training when the school year ended. "Scientology aligned with what I was trying to evolve in education, but there was a technology already evolved. There was no point taking a lot of time to get this technology once I saw I needed it. I had my full attention on getting out here for the Briefing Course because I could see it was the whole time track of Scientology. I loved it and it was even better than I expected," she says.

In January of 1976, she graduated from ASHO as a Permanent Class VI Auditor!

Phyllis found her early studies in Scientology made her work in New York very much easier and more effective. Now that she has finished her Class VI Internship and gone Clear, she is using Scientology to help parents with their children.

RESPECT FOR MY WORK

RON DENNIS, Class VII Auditor, started his career as an auditor in 1969. A professional musician (organist), he heard about Scientology in Miami. After his first few courses, he made his decision: "I wanted to make people happy—and I decided auditors could do that better than musicians," he says.

Now a full time auditor at ASHO, he enjoys his work. "Being able to do something that produces results and having it work every time is very satisfying," he says. "I love going to work every day and going home knowing I made the world a little better that day."

He has also found his training as a Scientology minister to be basic to every day living. "As an auditor, I am much more at ease with life, including my interpersonal relations."

REWARDING CAREER

TERRY SMITH, who graduated as a Class VI in 1975 and finished her Class VI Internship in just 3 weeks, is now expanding into Case Supervision.

A few years ago, she was assistant manager in a small restaurant in Sacramento, California, going to college leading into a theatre arts major. "I was trying to find a career," she explains, "but everywhere I went I didn't find people that were good to be with. It seemed you had to be really good in the field to start off with or you were a nobody and stayed that way."

Then a Scientology mission moved next door to the restaurant. "The Scientology people that came over respected you, they didn't invalidate what you were doing," she recalls. So she went to a lecture and soon began training.

"With Scientology training I found out you can start wherever you are at and continue to grow. You yourself improve. Scientology trains you to be an auditor but the data applies to any part of life. I know I could start in theater now and make it, because I know the basics of life."

In school, Terry had been very active in student government, sports, drama, school groups, volunteer work. "But I never saw any of these things achieve real results with people. As an auditor, you see someone in front of you suddenly able to do something they weren't able to do before, and that is very rewarding. I had one preclear who couldn't study. She just had a terrible time. After one four hour session, she was reading and learning and having a great time! That's just an everyday win for an auditor."

Radiant Class VI Graduate Phyllis Harris has been an antique iron collector for many years. She gladly parted with a few pieces to finance her Scientology training faster!

Class VII Auditor Ron Dennis finds auditing a career where he can respect the work he does.

Terry Smith, Permanent Class VI Auditor, enjoys helping people as an auditor and is now training to supervise the auditing of others.

Respect yourself and others

Get trained as an auditor!

Becoming a trained auditor starts in the Academy of your local Church of Scientology.

L. Ron Hubbard has set out a series of short courses which make it easy to gain skill as first a Dianetic auditor and then a Scientology auditor.

Understanding other people gives you more respect for them. And knowing that you know how to effectively handle them gives you more respect for yourself.

You need auditor training to achieve your full potential. You wouldn't start off in a car if you didn't know how to drive, and you wouldn't be able to fix one if you didn't understand engines. So why try to live life and handle personal relationships without knowing the basics and really knowing what makes people tick?

Understand yourself and others. Become an auditor now! Walk in to your nearest Church of Scientology and ask for the Registrar. Tell her you want to get trained.

GO CLEAR as a trained auditor

At Clear you truly find yourself. You are free to be at cause over your own survival, with certainty and peace of mind about yourself.

It is easier to clear yourself as a trained auditor. But special solo auditor's training means you can learn how with no previous training.

In all Man's searching, there has never before been a route to CLEAR. Now there is one! Take your next step on that route today.

Donation: $800.

Write the Letter Registrar, Advanced Organization for details. Send your advance donation (and earn 5% advance discount) to: Church of Scientology of California, Advanced Organization, 916 S. Westlake, Los Angeles, California 90006.

To become a trained auditor you need an E-Meter

BUY YOUR OWN E-METER NOW!

The Hubbard Electrometer (E-Meter) is an honest measure of the spiritual state and change of state of your pre-clear in processing. As soon as you start your auditor training, you'll want your own E-Meter to use whenever you need it - for training drills, for student auditing.

Donation: $215. For members, $172.

If you are a Scientology minister, ministerial student, or Grade VA Release seeking higher spiritual state, you are eligible to own an E-Meter. Send verification that you are eligible along with your check/money order to:
